The image shows a vast, modern interior space, likely a large hall or atrium. The ceiling is a complex, curved structure with a series of parallel, rib-like elements. Numerous large, red, flower-shaped lanterns are suspended from the ceiling, arranged in a pattern that follows the curve of the space. The walls are also curved and feature large windows. In the foreground, there are some smaller red lanterns and a railing. The overall atmosphere is bright and festive.

An aerial photograph of the Shanghai skyline at sunset. The Oriental Pearl Tower is prominent in the center-left, with the Shanghai Tower and Jin Mao Tower to its left. The city extends to the horizon, with the Huangpu River in the foreground. A faint rainbow is visible in the upper right sky. The text "当中国资本市场开放之时..." is overlaid in white on the right side of the image.
